Preamble

We, the custodians of knowledge and care for this world, proclaim this Declaration to anchor a vision that will serve humanity, the biosphere, and all generations yet to come.

Our time is not the end, nor the beginning, but a turning point. The tools of technology, the wisdom of nature, and the spirit of cooperation must be united into a living system — one that will outlast wars, outlast fashions, and outlast our own lifetimes.

Core Principles

1. Do Not Harm Yourself – Nurture your own mind, body, and spirit as a vessel for the greater good.
2. Do Not Harm Others – Act with empathy, respect, and non-punitive resolution in all matters.
3. Honor the Earth – Treat the biosphere as a living partner, not a resource to be consumed without renewal.
4. Share in Resonance – Build systems where knowledge, merit, and resources circulate equitably.
5. Plan for a Thousand Years – Make decisions that strengthen the next century, not just the next quarter.

Commitments to Action

We commit to:

- Preserve the frameworks of New Age Cybernetics (NAC) — including PERC, PlayNAC, SECUIR, and the 1000-Year Future Map — in permanent, public archives both digital and physical.
- Implement pilot communities where EarnedPath education, Graceful Contribution Formula (GCF) economies, and Smart Shelter systems can thrive.
- Maintain the ERES Generational Trust to ensure this work is funded without interruption.
- Educate through open, multilingual archives accessible to any human, in any era.
- Invite all people to participate as co-authors of humanity 's future.

Generational Clause

This Declaration shall be renewed every 100 years, reviewed for relevance, and reaffirmed with the signatures of the living stewards of NAC.

If ever the line of stewardship is broken, let this document be the seed to grow it anew.
